Dear Gigi:

Just a little hello and information on the current production. The success of FEATHERS has surpassed our wildest hopes. Jeanne arrived and went right to work on the script, substantially re-wrote 35% of the play and it opened vastly improved. The reaction has been most enthusiastic both to the play itself and to the concept of producing new work. So, the difficult education process is off to a strong start. Hopefully they will be equally enthused by new work that grapples with issues.

Hope this note finds you well and happy. Please say hello to Bob and give our best to Liz.

Sincerely,

Bruce Bouchard

NB: FRANKENSTEIN is in rehearsal with a completely re-worked text and we are reading Jeanne's second play in the Jaybuckle trilogy this Sunday.
